SALARY GRAB BILL PASSES THE HOUSE

Judiciary Committee Roasts Kaniho Of Kohala

HOUSE

31st Day—Forenoon Session.

The House this morning, by a vote of 26 ayes to 6 nays, passed the salary bill.

When the bill was called up for third reading, Quinan moved to postpone indefinitely. There was no debate on the motion, which was put and lost.

Coney then asked the House to allow him to offer a verbal amendment. By vote the request was granted, and he moved to put the figure for Supervisors' salaries back from $360 to the original $300. The amendment was lost and the bill went through as reported from Committee of the Whole.

ANOTHER GRAB BLOCKED.

There was an attempt on the part of several members of the House to make a grab box of the treasury of the county of Hawaii. The attempt was made in connection with the bill to appropriate money for the purpose of paying the claims of police officers of the county of Hawaii.

When the bill was introduced, it was taken for granted that the various items in the bill were absolute, and represented only the real and lawful claims of the police officers specified for their services during the interval between the passage of the first County Act and the time it was declared unconstitutional.

But when the bill came up on third reading this morning, Moanaili, the father of the bill, offered an amendment increasing from $35 to $168 the amount to be paid to one officer.

Other members hastened to get in on the ground floor and offer amendments, raising other items, until it looked as if there would be nothing of the original bill left but the title.

Then Rawlins and Coney proceeded to sit on these praiseworthy efforts of certain members to provide for the future events of their constituents. It was supposed, they said, that these items represented actual claims, but it appeared uncertain now what they represented.

Rawlins moved that the bill be postponed for a week, to allow the clerk to write to the county clerk of Hawaii for a certified copy of the actual and legal claims of the police officers.

Rawlins introduced a bill exempting steamships of the Commercial Pacific Cable Company from taxation. Passed first reading. The bill reads as follows:

Be it Enacted by the Legislature of the Territory of Hawaii:

Section 1. For ten years from and after January 1, 1907, the steamships of the Commercial Pacific Cable Company, lying within the waters of the Territory of Hawaii, shall be exempt from taxation.

Section 2. This act shall take effect from and after the date of its approval.

Pao introduced a bill relating to harbors. Passed first reading.

THIRD READING.

House Bill 148, amending corporation laws and striking out the twenty-dollar fees for filing corporation exhibits, came up for third reading and the vote resulted as follows: 25 ayes, 4 nays and 1 absent.

Senate Bill 51, providing for the filing by corporations of certificates of increase of capital stock, passed third reading by unanimous vote.

Clerk Savidge informed the House that Senate Bill 51, relative to construction and development of railroads in the Territory had passed third reading in that body.

ANOTHER BILL BY SHELDON.

Sheldon presented a bill making it a misdemeanor to girdle, destroy or injure any tree or timber, or dig up or destroy any tree or shrub on private or public land, or pull down fences surrounding enclosures. Passed first reading.

Two other sections of the bill, the committee reported, are conflicting and contradictory in their terms. Altogether the committee failed to find any merit in the bill, and recommended that it be tabled.

MAHOE FIGHTS FOR KANIHO.

Kaniho's henchman, Mahoe, who always constitutes himself Kanaho's mouthpiece when the latter is absent, did not think it fair to the member from Kohala to consider the report of the committee, as Kanaho was not present to defend his bill. He moved that the report of the committee be tabled until Kanaho returned.

Rawlins opposed any such action, and in doing so handed the flamboyant member from Kohala a roast concerning his disregard of the committee's requests.

"Mr. Kanaho," said Rawlins, "some two weeks ago, stood up in that seat of his and roared about two bills of his that were in the hands of the Judiciary Committee. That very afternoon I went to him and asked him to appear before the committee in reference to this bill. He did not appear. I went to him the next day and the next, but he did not come. Next thing I knew he was sick. We waited until he was off his sick bed. I went to Mr. Sheldon and got him to write a note to Hawaiian to Mr. Kanaho, asking him to appear. We have been fair with everybody. I would not stand for any unfair work in the committee. I would resign first."

"I don't want to be getting up here every day making a roar, but every time anybody wants to take a shot at the Judiciary Committee around a stone wall, we have to defend ourselves."

Kaleo supported Mahoe's motion to

ENTERTAIN GUESTS SAYS THE DELEGATE

Make Congressmen Feel At Home; They'll Do The Rest

I agree with you that we should give them a good time," said Delegates Kuhio this morning, referring to the Bulletin's suggestions for the program when the Congressional party arrives.

"Of course, I can't do much on the details of the program till I hear more from my secretary. But I don't believe we should stand those people up in a corner and call public meetings unless they ask for it. We should show them what there is to be seen and entertain them as guests. Let them ask the questions and let our people be on hand to render them all the assistance they need."

"We've had too much of the committee-meeting method of entertaining our friends. Let's entertain them in Hawaiian style, and then they will be our friends."

"As fast as I get information about the movements of the party I will keep the public informed. I hope everything will work smoothly and everybody will work together to help those men and their families enjoy themselves."

A gentleman connected with the planting interests expressed a similar view regarding the scheme for entertainment. "We hammered the Taft party too hard and told them too many of our troubles in a short space of time. Let our own Congressional party find Hawaii good-natured."

One of the leading bankers of the city agreed with the idea of a program for pleasure. "These are big men and bright men we have asked to Hawaii. They will get the information we want."

A PRICE-CUTTING SOLILOQUY

To cut or not to cut, that is the question.

Whether 'tis not better in the end
